[1] Only elected Republican legislator north of Birmingham.

[2] Only elected Republican legislator north of Birmingham. Elected, House Republican Minority Leader.

[3] Only elected Republican legislator in Tennessee Valley. Elected, House Republican Minority Leader.

[4] Madison County-wide vote. No Republican has ever been elected Madison County District Attorney. 1992 was a challenging year for Republicans. Mo Brooks' 46% vote was the second highest (to incumbent president George Bush) of any Republican running county-wide. The former D.A. (and then Congressman) Democrat Bud Cramer worked hard for fellow Democrat Tim Morgan, who won.

[5] Rob Colson was an 8-year Madison County Commission Republican incumbent.

[6] Mo Brooks was outspent 20-1 by Luther Strange and 10-1 by George Wallace, yet prevailed handily in the 5th Congressional District.
